PROGRAMME / GUIDE

WELCOME TO THE 4th MEDITERRANEAN MARITIME HISTORY NETWORK CONFERENCE

The principal aim of the Mediterranean Maritime History Network (MMHN) is to act as a clearing house for the exchange of information concerning current research on Mediterranean maritime history. Previous conferences were held in Valetta (2002), Messina/Taormina (2006) and Izmir (2010).

The 4th Mediterranean Maritime History Network Conference is hosted by the Museu Marítim de Barcelona. Over the last few decades, this institution has become a focus point for maritime history in both Spain and the Mediterranean area. More than a mere repository of artifacts, the Museu Marítim de Barcelona, is a vibrant centre for maritime culture.

Housed in the Drassanes Reials de Barcelona, the former Royal Dockyards, whose origins date back to the Middle Ages, it is one of the most impressive and best preserved buildings in the city of Barcelona, which day by day reminds us of our maritime heritage. A galley arsenal from the 13th Century, rebuilt in the 16th Century, this is a unique building.

The Museu Marítim de Barcelona hosts the conference with the collaboration of the Universitat de Barcelona and other local institutions. The Museum and the University of Barcelona work together in different projects on maritime history through the Permanent Observatory of Maritime History and Culture of the Mediterranean.

FOREWORD

Barcelona, capital de l'antic Principat de Catalunya, és per sobre de tot una ciutat marítima i portuària. No es pot comprendre el seu present ni pensar en el seu futur més enllà del mar. Més de dos mil anys d'història vinculada al mar han generat una cultura i un patrimoni que el Museu Marítim de Barcelona preserva i difon. Aquesta és la seva missió principal, però també ho és la promoció de la recerca i la creació de coneixement. És per això que per a nosaltres és un honor acollir en la nostra ciutat i en el nostre museu el IV Congrés de la Mediterranean Maritime History Network.

És un plaer, a més a més, acollir un col·lectiu de persones que, de ben segur, visitaran Barcelona amb una mirada diferent, des de la comprensió del valor que té el fet marítim en la història dels pobles. El mar uneix i separa alhora, i un congrés com el que ens reuneix ha d'unir a través del coneixement. En els darrers anys hem fet un esforç enorme per recuperar i restaurar les Drassanes Reials de Barcelona, un tresor arquitectònic que és també un símbol del passat marítim de la nostra ciutat i del nostre país. Acollir a les seves naus un congrés d'Història Marítim focalitzat en la Mediterrània és una de les millors formes d'omplir de vida aquest antic arsenal.

Us agraïm la vostra presència i us convidem a gaudir de la nostra ciutat, del nostre museu i de la nostra companyia durant aquests dies.

Barcelona, capital of the former Principality of Catalonia, is in essence a maritime and port city. Its present or future history cannot be understood without the presence of the sea. More than two thousand years of history bound to this sea generated a culture and heritage, which is preserved and promoted by the Maritime Museum of Barcelona. This is the main mission of the Museum, but to foster research and the creation of knowledge is also a key objective. For this reason it is an honour for us to welcome in our city and in our Museum the 4th Mediterranean Maritime History Network Conference.

We are also very pleased to host a group of people who will surely visit Barcelona in a different perspective, with an open understanding of what the maritime value is for the history of peoples. The sea binds but also separates, and this Conference will surely join us by means of knowledge. In the recent past we made great efforts to recover and restore the Royal Dockyards of Barcelona, an architectural treasure, which is also a symbol of the maritime past of our city and our country. The organisation of a Conference of Maritime history focused on the Mediterranean is one of the best ways to give life to this ancient dockyard.

We thank you for your participation and invite you to enjoy our city, our Museum and our company during these days.

Mr. Roger Marcet
Director General
Museu Marítim de Barcelona

MEALS

The organization does not provide lunches. The Organisers will provide a list of suggested restaurants nearby the Museum.

The coffee break will always be served at the Museu Maritim de Barcelona premises.

The organization offers two social dinners to attendants:

- Welcome Dinner at the Royal Dockyards of Barcelona
- The Farewell Dinner at the Guild of Fishermen, in the port of Barcelona

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

GUIDED TOUR TO THE ROYAL DOCKYARDS:

Join the guided tour to the Royal Dockyards, whose building was recently restored after several years of works. This renovation served to develop studies on the history of the building, such as an archaeological excavation, which provided key information on the different periods of construction and successive enlargements of this unique historical building. The guided tours language will be in English and Spanish and will last 1 hour approximately.

Dates and hours:

- Wednesday 7th at 17:45h or at 18:45h
- Thursday 8th at 18:45h

WELCOME DINNER:

A snack dinner will be offered at the permanent halls of the Royal Dockyards of Barcelona, at the stern of the Royal Galley 1:1 Replica.

Date and hour:

- Wednesday 7th at 20.00h

FAREWELL DINNER:

The farewell dinner will be organised in the Guild of Fishermen at the Port of Barcelona. There will be a visit to the Clock Tower, a lighthouse built in 1772; the yard of fishing networks and the market hall, where the dinner will take place. The menu will consist of traditional fish dishes.

OTHER OFFERS:

During the Conference days participants may visit for free the Museum and the schooner Santa Eulàlia moored at the port of Barcelona. The exhibition Vikings will have discount fees by showing the conference accreditation.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS

In case you have any specific requirement, please contact the organisation.

If your presentation needs to be complemented with other material (powerpoint, audio, etc.), please inform organisers beforehand in order to ease the smooth functioning of sessions.

When you register, please specify which activities you wish to participate in (welcome dinner, guided tour, farewell dinner).
